The above was written when Sir Thomes Lipton's challenge was announced. To-day that challenge has been declined, but I leave the paragraph as some explanation of the consternation with which English and American yachtsmen heard that the New York Yacht Club had unantomously declined the challenge, insisting on a 90-foot waterline. The tale of the America's Cup is not an unbroken record of magnanimous sportsmanship, but here we must add to it one of the most unmanly acts in the history of yacht racing. One can only attribute the club's action to personal reasons, but if in the days of earlier contests some members of the earlier contests some members of the earlier contests some members of the latter that the sun those men for the junior varsity whose makes it imperative that he choose only those men for the junior 'varsity whose chances for the 'varsity are slim. In cf-shines to-day with renewed brilliancy.

The American club's action will draw towards Sir Thomas the most potent of our feelings-sympathy. His last challence was the most disinterested he had ever made, and the declining of it puts an onus on the New York Yacht Club which they will find it hard to bear. American yachtsmen must mourn an action which one can only attribute to the snobhishness which sometimes grows too freely in democratic surroundings; we, on our side, dament the lost opportunity of a good race, and the chance which is offered to a new designer.

Since the above was written Sir Thomas.

Since the above was written Sir Thomas has forwarded another challenge without any stipulation as to the length of the defending yacht, and this will be acted on by the New York Yacht Club within a few days.

It is interesting to note that, according to the writer, designers abroad "have at last learned" how to set a sail and how to keep it set.

YALE LEADS AT CHESS Has Two Victories in Match with Williams College.

New Haven, April 12.-Yale has scored first blood in the chess mach being conducted by correspondence with Williams College. Of the two games the first to be finished lasted only twelve moves, and was a brilliant victory for the Yale players, who by dint of clever managuvring worked up to a position where a forced mate could not be avoided. On the twelfth move Williams found it necessary to surrender the queen in an effort to avert immediate disaster. In recapturing, however, Yale opened the king's rook's file against the white MARINE TRAPSHOOTERS WIN king, leaving the Williams team in a hopeless quandary.

PICK DOG SHOW JUDGES Long Island Kennel Club to Exhibit on Memorial Day.

Dr. J. E. DeMund, president of the Long Island Kennel Club, makes the announcement that the annual bench show of the organization will be held this year at the Sheepshead Bay racetrack on Memorial Day. The show always is the most important one-day outdoor exhibition of the year, and indications point to the one on May 30 excelling those of former seasons.

Several of the judges already have been appointed. Warren Purdy, a recognized authority upon French buildogs, will look after that breed; G. F. Eggert has been chosen to do the Great Danes, and James Conway will make the awards among built terriers. The Boston terriers will be judged by A. E. Wright, and Mrs. Nina M. Dodd will hand out the ribbons among the St. Bernards. As she is an exhibitor and a breeder of the animals no one could be more capable of judging them.

The officers of the club who are managing the show are Dr. John E. DeMund, president; Walter Gurnee, first vice-president; Walter Gurnee, first vice-president; Treederick B. Thomason, second vice-president; A. A. Rost, secretary, and John F. Collins, treasurer. Wilbur H. Purcell again will have charge of the show. The show always is the most im-
